DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 25, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7, 15 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are vague and indefinite because the preamble sets forth a duct fan but the body of the claim does not set forth an impeller or fan blade member within the duct other than the impeller within the distributor. Because of the preamble it is unclear when reading claim 1 alone which impeller is being claimed and this is further confused by claim 7 which repeats that claim limitation of an impeller within the distributor.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-7, 15 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ingalls (USPN 2,394,517) in view of Levy (USPN 3,229,896).

Ingalls discloses a duct (2) fan (3) which is driven by an electric motor (4, 6) mounted within a distributor (9, 15) by a plurality of equally spaced vanes (16). There is an impeller (14) housed within a chamber formed in the distributor. The impeller motivates cooling air to cool the motor and to travel within passages (17) within the vanes. Ingalls does not disclose that the vanes have ducts which supply air to and discharges air from the distributor to the outside of the duct. Levy discloses a similar duct fan which utilizes air outside the duct to cool the chamber within the distributor by passing air through supply (52) and discharge ducts (86, 88). At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, after considering Levy, to completely pass the vane ducts of Ingalls through the duct wall in order to provide supply and discharge ducts to the outside of the duct. Thus simplifying the structure within the Ingalls duct by allowing for the removal of the various supply pipes (24, 27, etc.).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Boeckel, Hagshenas and Avidann et al disclose cooling passages for motor driven fans.
